This qualification is suitable for electrical and non-electrical personnel with the responsibility of carrying out formal visual inspections and tests of portable appliances.

Course Details

This course covers the Level 3 Award in the In-Service Inspection and Testing of Electrical Equipment (previously known as PAT - Portable Appliance Testing). This award gives an understanding of the theory and practice of the in-service inspection and testing of electrical equipment; commonly referred to as PAT testing.

During the course, a number of practical exercises are undertaken using a range of portable appliance testing equipment. It provides delegates theoretical and practical experience in the implementation of a formal inspection and testing regime for electrical equipment.

Assessment

Completion of the course requires completion of an online examination and a practical assessment. The online examination is an open book assessment and candidates will require a copy of the IET Code of Practice for In-Service Inspection and Testing of Electrical Equipment.
